

Program

Time (AEST)

Session 1: Why Research Matters

9:00	Turning research into practice	Prof Erica Wood & Prof Zoe McQuilten Monash University
9:15	Why we need to improve transfusion practice	Prof Mike Murphy University of Oxford (UK)
9:40	The big issues in immunoglobulin supply and use	Dr Paul Strengers Consultant Blood and Plasma Strategies (The Netherlands)
10:05	The National Blood Authority's role in the oversight of the blood sector and in identifying research priorities	Dr Neil Everest Australian Government Dept. of Health, Disability and Ageing
10:30	Panel discussion	All speakers above

10:50 Morning Break

Session 2: Reframing Immunoglobulin Use

11:15	Why is immunoglobulin use changing in haematology?	Prof Robert Weinkove Malaghan Institute of Medical Research (NZ)
11:35	Developing core outcome sets for Ig in blood cancer	Dr Catriona Parker Monash University
11:50	Immunoglobulin use for kidney transplant rejection	Prof William Mulley Monash Health
12:15	IVIg in the STReptococcal Adaptive Platform (STRAP) trial: Neutralising severe invasive disease?	A/Prof Joshua Osowicki University of Melbourne
12:40	TRUST-Ig: Identifying the true cost of immunoglobulin in practice	Dr Sara Carrillo de Albornoz Monash University

1:00 Lunch Break

Session 3: Tackling Old Problems in New Ways

1:45	New approaches to transfusion support for patients with blood disorders	Dr Allison Mo Monash University
2:10	Using the National Transfusion Dataset to identify patterns in product demand	Dr Sasha Taylor Monash University
2:25	Red blood cell transfusion thresholds in sepsis	A/Prof Derick Adigbli The George Institute for Global Health
2:45	Pathways to improving on current platelet transfusion: Cold? Frozen? Artificial?	Prof Michael Reade University of Queensland
3:05	Identifying patient-important outcomes in trauma research	Dr Catriona Parker Monash University
3:25	TRANSFORM Trauma platform trial	Dr James Winearls Gold Coast University Hospital
3:45	Closing remarks	Prof Erica Wood & Prof Zoe McQuilten

3:50 Afternoon Tea & Networking

Meeting concludes 4:30 pm